

IT TAKES A LONG TIME TO KNOW

It takes such a long time to know
To know how it feels to get strong
And once you have reached your goal
No one can blame you at all

No one said it would be easy
To turn things around when you fail and you're down
But you can find your way
Now that's why i'll be there
That's why i'll always be your friend

It takes such a long time to know
To know how it feels to be strong
And once you have faced your soul
No one can hurt you at all

You can make anything happen
By the love that is growing and flowing inside
There's always something to hold to
Just keep on believing
You know i will help you my friend

Laurence Jay , novembre 2006